

New for 2008 is a temporary exhibit honoring former Painted Post native and Chairman of IBM, Thomas J. Watson (1874-1956). This exhibit features highlights of Watson's life as a forerunner in systems technology, and quite possibly, the greatest salesman the world has ever known. Visit the museum this summer and discover the significance of Watson's Painted Post roots, and why he so proudly proclaimed Painted Post as his hometown.